ALL THE DOCTORS OF OUR LIVES
written & directed by
Janet Steiger Carr

The piece we will be doing is called All the Doctors of Our Lives. It is a spoof of all the soap opera doctor programs ever made. I wrote it for an acting class many years ago based on an idea from a royalty free short skit in a magazine. I have permission from Pioneer Press to put my name on it with original concept by Stuart L. Sheeley.

All the Doctors of Our Lives is the ongoing story of Life, Love, Divorce, Death, Jealousy, Hate, Sibling Rivalry, Pathos, Degradation, and downright warmth behind the scenes of a “modern” medical center. Head Writer and director Janet Steiger Carr wants to thank all the brave doctors everywhere who risk their lives every day and the actors who portray them.

I have a hospital logo somewhere, but I am afraid it will not transfer.

I have gather over a dozen local actors to portray multiple characters. We will be working furiously over the next few months to polish this piece of farce to a dazzling patina.

Thank you for including us in this series! It has taken me a while to get this together because I had to contact Pioneer Press to insure it was okay that I have “embellished” the original to the extent I had and would not get into a scrap when the found it on YouTube. Thankfully they were overjoyed that I had taken a four page idea and turned it into a play and a sequel!
